

About the Cost of Private (Self-Pay) Dental Treatment (Price List)

Information Regarding Fees for Private (Self-Pay) Treatment

This fee schedule applies to private (self-pay) dental treatment. At our clinic, treatments that can be appropriately provided under the Japanese health insurance system will be performed within the scope of insured treatment whenever possible. Private treatment is recommended only when insurance-covered treatment is not sufficient or when a different treatment option is considered more appropriate. Please note that combining insured treatment and private treatment within the same course of care is often not permitted under Japanese health insurance regulations. Therefore, even when a patient requests a particular treatment, there may be situations in which we are unable to provide it in the exact manner requested due to legal, insurance, or clinical considerations. In addition, medical treatment differs from purchasing a product. Appropriate treatment must be determined based on each patient's individual oral condition and clinical needs. For this reason, treatment cannot always be provided simply upon request. Instead, we first conduct a thorough examination and diagnosis, then explain the overall treatment plan before proceeding. Furthermore, due to the nature of medical care, treatments generally cannot be provided on a success-fee basis or with guaranteed outcomes. To avoid misunderstandings, we make every effort to explain the proposed treatment, fees, expected course of treatment, benefits, limitations, and potential risks in advance. If you have any questions or concerns, please feel free to ask at any time. Whether your treatment is covered by insurance or provided on a private basis, we are committed to serving you with sincerity and professionalism and will do our utmost to help you achieve the best possible outcome. Please also note that private (self-pay) treatment is subject to consumption tax, which will be charged separately.
